We asked you for feedback on our staggering period for reception children, you said: So easy for me as a working parent

- It was great
- My child always came here as a baby and to nursery so she knows it well
- I thought it was great, they don't need a long staggering in
- It was nice and short, my friend's son didn't start full days until the end of September and it was hard for her to find childcare so I am very happy.
- Good that they stayed for lunch and then went home, making it easier for them to settle.
- Not a lot of half days, which was fine for us. We really appreciated the option to
- speak to the school if the child would have needed more time to settle.
- Very very happy

You said	Our response:
I think the half days for reception should be for two weeks.	We used to have a longer staggering period. This is becoming increasingly difficult for working parents. We do appreciate that each child is different, we offer an extended settling in period for children who may need more time.
We didn't receive the email, a letter from July said they would only do half days the first week. It turns out it was only Thursday 8th that was a half day and we found that out Friday morning.	We are sorry that you did not receive the email. After the open days, we added all of our families in attendance to Class Dojo where staggering sessions were shared as well as key information regarding PE kits, house colours and stories for the children to watch. The option to do more half days was offered to all families.

We asked you for an additional feedback that you may have had on Keir Hardie, you said:

- Dojo is great and the teachers are so lovely. Thank you.
- Everyone is lovely
- The app is really good - better than paper
- I feel I can message and they get back to me quickly. The staff are all great and my child plays classrooms at home! I think Dojo is good for information.
- Thank you for all of your hard work.
- Your school is wonderful, we are very happy to study at your school.
- Homework is good because my child can do it himself. The teachers are very friendly and my child has made friends and knows some letters.
- Classdojo is brilliant - direct contact to teachers and see how they are getting on in school without being there. Perfect!
- We are so happy - communication has been improved using ClassDojo.
- My daughter is very happy.
